

The partner for hiring finance talent built for moments that matter.

Growing companies need a finance team they can trust, especially when expectations rise fast. Eventus helps you hire the people who strengthen your finance function from day one. We identify candidates with the accuracy, judgment, and strategic mindset needed to support your goals and keep the business moving forward.

Executive Search identifies CFOs, Controllers, and senior finance leaders who pair technical excellence with strategic insight. These leaders raise the bar for financial rigor, modernize reporting, strengthen controls, and build teams that support long-term growth.

Professional Search focuses on the high-impact contributors beneath the C-suite who keep the finance engine running. They bring strong technical foundations, clear communication, and the ability to grow into future leadership roles.

Across both offerings, we go beyond résumés. We look at how candidates think, solve problems, and show up when the pressure is on. Our boutique approach allows us to truly understand your business, your culture, and the realities your new hires will step into.

The result is simple.

You get the right people in the right roles, creating a more reliable, scalable finance function and the confidence that your business is supported by talent built for moments that matter.
